

Yoichi Kojima is a general manager of UACJ Corporation (<http://www.uacj.co.jp/english/>). He supervises Research Department No.2 at Research & Development Division of the corporation. Department No.2 is responsible for the technology areas of corrosion control, surface treatment, rolling oil tribology, chemical analysis, and physical analysis.

He graduated bachelor course of the Departments of Metallurgical Engineering of The University of Tokyo. He worked on corrosion science as a research associate of The University of Tokyo from 1989 to 2005, and received the degree of Doctor of Engineering in 2001. After moving to UACJ Corporation in 2005, he was a leader of Corrosion Control Laboratory from 2007 to 2011, and promoted to a general manager at 2011.

